

Citizens Denounce Registration Law

Hundred calls for help here in the city, leading a letter to be received today from Seneca, Mo., asking for five thousand dollars.

Human Agent Welch declared he had never before seen the time when there was such a demand for labor. "There is a place for every man and woman in this city and there is not an excess for anyone being out of a job. We found places for every applicant last month and could have found many more. The jobs exceed the laborers."

The era of good times, however, may have drawbacks this summer, according to certain persons interested in the employment question.

"The Census Holes."

They say that in view of the fact that there always is a big class of men that would work unless they have to, the prosperity wave will increase the membership of this great organization of "cents of leisure." It is admitted that more "bums" will be seen in all parts of the country this coming summer.

With families of every class enjoying some of the fruits of prosperity this class of "wanderers" will find plenty of persons with good intentions who will help them along with their families.

With many men looking to this army of work opponents the price of labor is likely to soar much higher than at present, say those men who studied the situation.

to $20,000,000. A prominent dealer declared tonight that if the sale of the properties of Barnhill Oil company is approved and an auction is granted, the Osage will gain about $15,000,000 on lease already secured on developed territory.

In commenting on the proposition, John Palmer, one of the petitioners, tonight declared that the Osage will fight to the last ditch to prevent an attempted gift of oil properties which it is alleged, are worth anywhere from $10,000,000 to $15,000,000 more than they would have received under the plan as worked out by the department and agreed to by the Osage council and that the United States supreme court will finally have to pass upon the merit or demerits of the proposition.

AND MEANWHILE THE VOTERS PAY TAXES

Special to The World.

OKLAHOMA CITY, May 1.—Members of the local school board representing the "Osage" school district met today and declared vacant the position on the board claimed by Clark C. Hudson. The action is but another step in a long drawn out controversy between the Edwards and Hudson factions, which at times in the past furnished sensational headlines for papers in nearby states. The members immediately elected James H. Noble, a member of the board to take Hudson's place. Hudson was Saturday of last week denied an injunction restraining the board members from interfering with him putting on the board and took the matter to the supreme court. A decision was to have been announced today, but the high court passed it over until tomorrow. Hudson nor any members of his side of the controversy attended the meeting of the board today.

Officials Are Instructed in Regard to Move

The dispatch sent to General Scott tonight was supplemental to one sent yesterday. It was prepared by Secretary Baker after a very brief conference with the president and later talks with Secretary Lansing and Counselor Polk of the state department. Although the message is a brief one, it was impossible to get it into code until late in the day, preventing a continuance of the border conference before tomorrow.

Outline Views.

The reports of the conference are signed jointly by Generals Scott and Foxton. So far as is known they have contained no recommendations from the two officers, merely stating what had been said and asking for such further information as they thought necessary in order to pursue discussions. Lacking explicit instructions it is doubtful that General Scott would attempt to make any reply to General Obregon's request for the withdrawal of the troops. There is little doubt that the additional instructions outlining the administration's view in this regard so clearly that General Obregon will have no doubts as to what General Carranza will be told when a reply to his note is made.

In some quarters in touch with the Mexican developments it was said that the president was handling the situation personally and had no question for decision to lay before his cabinet tomorrow. The flat statements of all administration officials that there had been no change of policy here out this idea.

No Formal Demand.

It was stated officially that no formal demand for withdrawal of the troops had been made by any representative of the de facto government. State department advice today said arrangements had been made to transport American refugees at Manzanillo to the United States. The steamer Newport will sail from Manzanillo May 4, probably for San Diego, Cal. A score or more of Americans have been awaiting transportation from that point.

Reports from Piedras Negras said a new issue of Mexican currency would go into circulation at that point today and that all Mexican government employees would receive their pay for April in the new currency. Telegraphic reports from Monterrey said that the newspapers there, by friendly publications had contributed to the good feeling existing towards Americans.

American occupation could be limited to the extreme northern portion of Mexico and since withdrawal could be reached at a period not very far distant.

Mexican officials said today they were anxious to have the conference expedited. They asserted that every additional day of uncertainty regarding the disposition of the American columns increases the danger of outbreaks south of the border.

Must Have Agreement.

Little credence was attached, however, to reports that General Obregon might decide to end the conference unless some agreement was soon reached.

While matters were at a standstill today new reports of a reliable nature came, indicating that the American army is preparing for at least a temporary stay on Mexican soil. These said that the Sixth, Sixteenth and Seventeenth infantry regiments, which formerly were at Casas Grandes and Colonia Dublan, now are at Namiquipa. General Pershing's base, and that the Twenty-fourth is guarding the line of communication from Columbus.

The Thirteenth and Eleventh regiments of cavalry and part of the Tenth and Seventh also were reported at Namiquipa, with the Sixth on its way.

Ready For Emergency.

With this large force at his command and with the customary defense preparations made, it was indicated that General Pershing was ready for any emergency.

Only a few scattered columns of the expeditionary force are reported south of Namiquipa. The great bulk of General Pershing's men is now well within two hundred miles of the border.
